Why estimate my 2011 giving?

It's difficult to predict what might happen financially in 2011. The past two years have been a roller coaster and complicated for most of us. Don't let financial hardship interrupt your relationship with God or Trinity Episcopal Church. Your acceptance here is not based on your capacity to give. Trinity will continue to answer God's call to Inspire Community. And we will continue to strive to uphold our baptismal promise, "We will, with God's help."

We do ask that everyone return a pledge card, no matter the size of the commitment. You can increase or decrease your pledge as your situation changes with a simply call to the church office.

How to give

Most people offer their pledges by writing a check and mailing it or placing it in the offering plate. At this time, Trinity does not accept credit cards. Some people appreciate special offering envelopes provided by the church. If you would like a set of envelopes, indicate your preference at the bottom of the pledge form. All pledge payments are acknowledged with quarterly statements.

Flexipledge

Debating in 2010, Flexipledge allows people to indicate the amount of their pledge and the months in which it will be paid. It's most convenient for those who are only able to commit a semester at a time, or people who are out of town for large parts of the year.

Tax advantages

Gifts to Trinity Episcopal Church are deductible as charitable contributions within the limits of the Internal Revenue Code.
